Mr. Conkling's speech hurls, and therefore the Democrats are kicking about it.

"Them steers" in Maine can now go and meet Chairman Barnum's seven miles.

Hancock's "glorious result" in Maine, is the Republicans get the offices while the Democrats get the disgrace.

The election in Maine has demonstrated that what Hancock lacks in statesmanship he makes up in cheek.

There is no evidence visible to the naked eye that there is any Democratic candidate for Congress in this district.

Will the Madison Democrat answer whether or not the "Bright Democratic prospects" are "embarrassing" to the Democrats?

The Democratic National Committee has gone to see Hancock to tell him not to write any more dispatches about "glorious results."

There is too much economy in running the government under a Republican administration, and therefore the Democrats want a change.

The statesman who is in command of Governor's Island, New York harbor, is knocking the wind out of the currency plank of the Democratic platform.

Inasmuch as there has been no "glorious result" in Maine to the Democrats, probably General Hancock will feel like denying that he ever sent Plaided the dispatch.

If the Democrats paid for the powder they burned over the first report from Maine, it is all right. If they did not, they will now feel like kicking themselves and repudiating the debt.

When that Democratic statesman General Winfield Scott Hancock sent that "glorious result" telegram to General Plaided, to apply the language of the Maine Yankee, he was "just a little too previous."

The country can take the measure of Hancock's statesmanship, since he sent that dispatch over the wires spreading the intelligence that a Greenback victory in Maine was a "glorious" result. Hancock is certainly superb in statesmanship.

Down in Texas and Mississippi when the Republicans attempt to nominate their tickets, the Democrats refer to such proceedings as the "evil practices of the time." Of course the Democrats of the North would not question the position of their Southern brethren.

It seems to be foolishness to send Mr. Conkling to speak at a place like Warren, Ohio, a small town and solidly Republican. He should be sent to strong Democratic strongholds, where converts are needed. It is a waste of powder to preach to the righteous; the Democrats need repentance.

There is a workingman down in Trenton, New Jersey, who made a strong political speech in two dozen words. He said: "Four years ago I voted for Tilden because I wanted the South to govern itself. Now I shall vote for Garfield because I don't want the South to govern us."

The superb statesman who surveys the whole political field from New York harbor assured the Democratic party of the United States that the "glorious victory" in Maine would inspire the Democrats with renewed confidence. He must think the Democratic party is made of queer stuff to take confidence over a Republican victory.

The chairman of the Wisconsin Democratic committee and editor of the Madison Democrat, heard from Maine last Tuesday morning, and thereupon sat down and while intoxicated with joy, wrote as follows: "The Republican party had better go off into some secluded spot and kick itself to death." Since Maine has been heard from more definitely probably the manager of the Democratic party in Wisconsin will feel like following the advice he so freely gave to the Republicans.

Colonel "Bob" Ingersoll delivered a lecture at McVicker's theatre, Chicago, on Sunday afternoon. As a matter of course the great building was jammed and crammed to overflowing. His subject was "What must I do to be saved?" The effort was one of Bob's best. As a good joke on the liberal-minded Ingersoll, every person in the congregation was presented at the door with a card gotten up by the Young Men's Christian association bearing the words: "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved."

Mr. Thomas A. Edison contributes an article to the October number of the North American Review, in which he states that he has succeeded in making the electric light entirely practicable for all illuminating purposes. He shows the advantages of electricity over gas, and explains how the system is to be introduced. He comments upon the unfavorable opinions that have been passed upon his work, and says that similar judgments were pronounced upon telegraphy, steam navigation, and other great discoveries. Other articles in the October number of the Review are: "The Democratic party judged by its history," by Emory A. Storrs; "The Ruins of Central America," by Desire Charnay; "The Observance of the Sabbath," by Rev. Dr. Leonard Bacon; "The Campaign of 1862," by Judge D. Tuaw Wright; "The Taxation of Church Property," by Rev. Dr. A. W. Pitzer; and "Recent Progress in Astronomy," by Prof. E. S. Holden.

The editor has received a private letter from Congressman Williams, dated at Mentor, Ohio, on Thursday last, in which he says: "I am writing this in General Garfield's workshop. I find him hale, hearty and undaunted. After a full and free conference with him I can think of nothing but a chained lion, full of courage and strength, and fortunate will it be for some of his assailants like Hendricks if the traditions as to Presidential candidates prove strong enough to hold him. Here he is with three clerks and one telegraph operator, all busy. As you know the office is a separate building a few steps from the house. As I write this, his old mother comes in with her clear, classical face and gray hair, and hands him a letter to mail. As he turns to take it from her hand, it is a grand scene for a painter." After speaking of General Garfield's splendid farm, Mr. Williams says: "I have just received a telegram requesting me to go back and speak in Buffalo on the 24th, but I am anxious to get home for work there."

SENATOR CONKLING'S GREAT SPEECH.

In all the history of public speaking in this country we cannot find a speech which attracted more attention and was looked for with deeper interest than that which Senator Roscoe Conkling delivered in the Academy of Music, in New York, on Friday evening. To say that it was "the best effort of his life," would not fitly describe the true character of the speech. So intense was the desire to hear Mr. Conkling that it was found necessary to issue admission tickets, in order to prevent, as it was supposed, confusion and a jam. But this scheme did not operate satisfactorily, and before the hour for throwing open the doors of the great Academy of Music, there were many thousands of people in the streets waiting to gain admittance. When seven o'clock came, there came a rush which no police force had power to control, and in twenty minutes all the space in the vast building from the topmost gallery to the first floor, was filled, while on the outside there stood an anxious crowd of fifteen thousand all waiting to hear the speech. When Mr. Conkling made his appearance on the stage, surrounded by five hundred of the most prominent Republican leaders in the East, there came an outburst of applause which fairly made the building tremble to its foundation. Under such inspiring circumstances as these the brilliant and eloquent, but sometimes imperious, Senator from New York, delivered a speech which was worthy of being heard by every voter in this land.

In the beginning of his speech Mr. Conkling said the Democratic party is the Democratic candidate and therefore he was against the ticket and all its work. The general issue is a sectional one, and in twelve States of the Union the coming Presidential election is to be no more than a mere farce, unless, as has sometimes happened, it be turned into a tragedy. He said should a controversy arise regarding the election of a President, and the question should be thrown into the House, there, the votes being taken by States, the South would cast nearly all the Democratic votes, and in the Senate the vote for Vice President would come from the same source.

In every event of Democratic success the Southern end of the Democratic party must be to the Northern end as the locomotive is to the tender, as the horse is to the cart.

But the Democratic leaders in the North say the South will not control the administration should Hancock be elected, and beside that, the Democratic election would watch the Southerners, and see that they did not go into repudiation nor take possession of the government. But Mr. Conkling said an angel might watch a tiger, a child might attempt to divide beefsteak with a bloodhound, a lamb might lie down with a lion—but the lamb would be inside. He considered the peril of Democratic ascendancy in all branches of the government deeper rooted than any measure within the scope of existing public questions. The success of the Northern Democracy would be the success of the Southern Democracy, and a placing in their hands the control of the entire government.

But the chief part of Mr. Conkling's speech embraced the history of the two parties on the financial question, and then he showed what had been done by the Republican party in the way of bringing about resumption. He directed this part of his speech to the business men of New York, and the result will not prove uncertain. The resumption act was entirely the work of the Republican party. It was prepared by the Republican leaders in Congress. It was passed through both houses of Congress by Republican votes. It was signed by a Republican President. It was ridiculed and opposed by the Democrats in Congress and out of it.

The far-reaching and universal advantages that have grown out of the resumption act, are worthy the serious thought of business men, farmers, mechanics, and day-laborers. They enter vastly into every business and industry in this country. They have revived manufacturing, given vigor to commerce, facilitated the transportation of grain from the West to the East, reduced the rate of interest to those who are compelled to borrow, given the wages of workmen greater purchasing power, have once and for all put a stop to gold gambling, and have made the paper of the government as good as gold in any and every part of the country. These are the doings of the Republican party. It has done these things in the face of violence and opposition coming from the Democratic party.

AUGUST, Sept. 20.—The result is still in doubt. Both sides claim the Governor. The Republicans claim 200 plurality. It will take the official count to decide the question.

WANT TO FIGHT.

Special to the Gazette.

CORNING, Ohio, Sept. 20.—Miners to the number of 800 are holding a meeting. The latest report is that they will attack the troops this afternoon or night. It is fully expected they will whip the militia and drive away the negro miners.

WEAVER TO PLAIDED.

General Weaver's Dispatch to the Maine Greenbackers.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—General James B. Weaver, the Greenback nominee for President, sends the following telegram to General Plaided, at Bangor, Me.:

"I congratulate you on the grand fight you have made in Maine for the National Greenback Labor party. It will inspire our friends with confidence, and strengthen them for the great battles which remain to be fought. I hope you are elected. It is most amusing to see the Democratic leaders masquerading behind the Greenback party, and calling our victory a Democratic boom. They fail to tell the public that you were nominated as a straight Greenbacker, and that the Democrats could not have carried the State by 40,000. They fail also to state that they requested you to make pledges to them when they gave you their endorsement, and that you promptly declined; that their State Central Committee subsequently demanded pledges of you, and upon your second refusal said committee requested you to withdraw as a candidate, and that you declined to do that also. The Democrats in Maine showed their good sense by voting the Greenback ticket. Let us all rejoice."

JAMES B. WEAVER.

WHO HE IS FOR.

New York, Sept. 19.—The Weaver Club of Elizabeth, N. J., sent the following dispatch to General Plaided:

ELIZABETH, Sept. 18.—Governor Plaided, Bangor, Me.—Accept the congratulations of the Weaver Club. Are you not for Weaver and Chambers?

The following dispatch was received in reply:

B. W. Terlinde, Secretary Weaver Club, Elizabeth.—Thanks for your congratulations. Yours for Weaver and Chambers. H. M. PLAIDED.

DOMESTIC TRAGEDY.

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 19.—This evening George Wechtler, a tanner, resident in Chicago, shot his wife and then killed himself at her residence in the north-western quarter of the city. The couple had been divorced for years, and Wechtler had moved to Chicago leaving her the care of her two children. To-day he called and seemed to be friendly, buying clothing for the children and advancing money for dinner. Toward evening he closed the door leading to an adjoining residence and drew a revolver. Mrs. Wechtler attempted to crawl through a window and fell out upon the sidewalk, the charge taking effect in her neck. Wechtler then ran to a shed, and shot himself. He died within an hour. His victim may recover.

ROBERT BURNS.

A Statue to His Memory in Central Park, New York.

New York, Sept. 18.—The statue of Robert Burns, to be placed on the Mall in Central Park, a little north of the statue of Walter Scott, will be unveiled Saturday afternoon, Oct. 2, with great ceremony. This was agreed upon at a meeting of the Committee of Management of the Burns Monument Association just held. Mr. George William Curtis will be the orator of the day. The Caledonian Club of this city will parade in Highland costume, and it is expected that its ranks will be swelled by members of the Caledonia Clubs of Brooklyn and Jersey City. The St. Andrews Society will also parade. The sculptor is Sir John Steuart, of Edinburgh. The Monument Committee are so greatly pleased with the work that they voted $1,000 extra to the sculptor. This extra sum was contributed by about five men. Mr. Robert Gordon gave $250 of it, and Mr. John Kennedy also contributed $250.

A MISSOURI MURDER.

The Editor of a Greenback Organ Assassinated at His Home in Maryville.

MARYVILLE, Sept. 19.—Dr. P. H. Ball, a member of the Legislature, and editor of the Greenback Standard, was assassinated at his residence, six miles south of the city, just as he was returning. The shot was fired through the window, entering the side, and coming out at the back, and grazing the body of his wife, who had retired. He lingered until noon to-day. Great excitement prevails, and, if caught, the assassin will receive his just dues.

CHICAGO GOSSIP.

From our Special Correspondent.

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—Our Exposition building is now the largest in the western country. The length is 1008 feet, with an average width of 224 feet. Last year the visitors averaged 11,000 people a day, from its opening to the close. The increased prosperity of the surrounding country, the present season, warrants us in saying that many more will visit it this year. Something over 650 exhibitors display their various wares, and over 200 applications for space could not be filled. The grand aquarium—composed of eight large tanks, each twelve feet long—are in the middle of the building, and completely encircle the fountain—having aisles between. Specimens of all cultivated fish in the western States, are here to be seen. This is one of the most interesting sights. Among the many interesting exhibits are "threadspoolers," "glass engravers," "gas engines," a "stemon lapidary" for cutting jewels, "Erickson's new motor," never before on exhibition in this country; "paper cutting machines," "compressed air engines," the manufacture of "artistic pottery," from its inception until the finishing touches are put on. A large collection of natural history is exhibited by the department of science and education.

On last Wednesday, the Israelitish population, celebrated their most sacred holiday—"The day of atonement"—by attending at their respective places of worship. Their partook of no food or drink from sunset Tuesday evening until very late Wednesday night. The majority of them stood standing in their places from morning until night, engaged in prayer and other religious ceremonies, in their stocking feet, and dressed only in white grave clothes. There are 6,000 in Chicago.

This city has at present, 200,000,000 more feet of lumber on hand, than she had in September last year. Every fair wind, wafts to our harbor large fleets of heavily laden vessels, and the river at times is completely blockaded.

Coal and wood are arriving in immense quantities, and many of the yards have to be enlarged in order to take care of it. Thousands of our citizens are now laying in their fall and winter supplies at $5.25 per ton, for range and chestnut. Many complaints are being made about extremely light weight, and a committee of respectable and influential gentlemen, are about laying the matter before the Common Council, looking towards some plan, whereby purchasers can have every load weighed on the city scales and by city authority, and attested to by ticket. No doubt many of the dealers are honest and those who are will not "kick" at this plan, while others may raise every possible objection. They all weigh on their own scales at present.

Our wholesale candy houses, combined, now ship at a daily average 57 tons. The largest house sends out 13 tons a day, and this amount will be greatly increased in the next two months.

The tobacco sales for August and the first half of the present month, amounted to $2,300,000, while for the corresponding period last year, it was $1,750,000. In 1859, the sales for August were $80,000, and in 1840 the sales were $250 for September.

An honest and trustworthy St. Louis gentleman informed us that their Common Council had petitioned the Legislature for "an act amendatory to their Act for the encouragement of population." Alas, poor St. Louis, this will not avail her any, as Chicago is now warmly welcoming nearly hundreds of her best business talent, who will make this city their future home, with all that the name implies, and induce their friends to do likewise. Since the census returns, Chicago has received nearly five thousand of her citizens, many of whom have purchased considerable property inside our limits, and joined us in real live business, with every prospect of success.

When articles rise the consumer is the first that suffers; and when they fall, he is the last that gains. Spring Blossom is always on uniform price and always gives satisfaction to the consumer in cases of Dyspepsia, Indigestion, etc. For sale by A. J. Roberts, and Croft & Shorer.

A Suggestion to Summer Tourists.

A change of climate is at all times more or less dangerous. There are elements in a new atmosphere which are injurious, especially when the system is exhausted by care and overwork, and which should be guarded against. After careful observation we have come to the conclusion that Warner's Safe Kidney Cure is the best preventative for atmospheric evils, and that it will restore health and vigor sooner than any remedy which has been discovered.

Jubesh, Snow, Gunning, Cove, N. S., writes: "I was completely prostrated with the Asthma, by the hearing of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. I procured a bottle, and it did me so much good, that I got another, and before it was used I was well. My son was cured of a bad cold by the use of half a bottle. It goes like wildfire, and makes cures wherever it is used."

Sold by A. J. Roberts, and Croft & Shorer.

How They Feel at Adrian, Mich.

Reed, Beach & Smith, druggists of this city, say that Day's Kidney Pad is giving the best of satisfaction. One of their customers says he would not take two hundred dollars for the one he has if he could not get another.

Henry Clement, Almonte, writes: "For a long time I was troubled with chronic Rheumatism, at times wholly disabled. I tried anything and everything recommended, but failed to get any benefit until a gentleman who was cured of Rheumatism by Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil told me about it. I began using it both internally and externally, and before ten bottles were used I was radically cured. We find it a household medicine, and for Croup, Burns, Cuts, and Bruises, it has no equal."

Sold by A. J. Roberts, and Croft & Shorer.

The Grand Central Hotel, 667 Broadway, New York City, is the best kept $3.00 a day house in America. Make a note of this, so that when you visit New York you will know where to stop.

ANNUAL CONVENTIONS.

THIRD DISTRICT.

The Third Assembly District Republican Convention of Rock county, will be held at the Court House, in the city of Janesville, on Wednesday, September 23rd, 1880, at 2 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of placing in nomination a candidate for Member of Assembly. Each town in this district will be entitled to the same number of delegates as to the County Conventions.

Coughs.

"Brown's Bronchial Troches" are used with advantage to alleviate Coughs, Sore Throat, Hoarseness and Bronchial Affections. For thirty years these Troches have been in use, with annually increasing favor. They are not new and untried, but, having been tested by wide and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age.

The "Brown's Bronchial Troches" act directly on the organs of the voice. They have an extraordinary effect in all disorders of the Throat and Larynx, restoring a healthy tone when relaxed, either from cold or over-exertion of the voice, and produce a clear and distinct utterance. Speakers and Singers find the Troches useful.

A Cough, Croup, Catarrh or Sore Throat requires immediate attention, as neglect often times results in some incurable Lung Disease. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" will almost invariably give relief. Imitations are offered for sale, many of which are injurious. The genuine "Brown's Bronchial Troches" are sold only in boxes.

—Hodge & Buchholz have just built two handsome carriages, which J. B. LaGrange has painted in an elegant manner. One of these is already in use, it being for Mr. Ames, the livery man, who succeeded Wood. The other carriage is for the livery of W. Heiliger, of Madison. It is no less a beauty, and is substantially made, and finely finished.

—Mary Farrell, who works at one of the hotels, came to Justice Nolan with a tale of wrath and woe to-day. She said that a negro at work at the same house, picked up and carried off about $6 of her money, which she left lying on a table. The negro's name was Jacob Carr, and he was promptly arrested on a charge of larceny, and will have a chance to explain in the Police Court.

—For the information of those who desire to attend the Walworth County Fair this week, we give the time of excursion trains over the Western Union R. R.; leave here 7 a. m., via Clinton, connect at Clinton with special from Beloit, arrive at Elkhorn 9:30. Leave Elkhorn 4:45 a. m., reach Janesville 8:30. Excursion rates over Western Union. The Walworth Co., Fair, heretofore, have been very successful, and in conversation with the Rev. C. R. Gibbs and Rev. Morrison, we learn that they expect this to eclipse all previous efforts.

—After Dr. Trauer had concluded his protracted fast, a good proportion of the clergymen of the country preached sermons adorned with morals drawn from the unusual event. Recently there have been races in Chicago, between horses and men, but no minister of that city has yet made them the subject of a discourse. It is not unlikely that the want of knowledge of the Scriptures on the part of the clergymen of that place deprived them of an appropriate text. One highly pertinent to the occasion may be found in Psalm 147:10, "The Lord delighteth not in the strength of the horse; He taketh not pleasure in the legs of a man."

—Last Wednesday at the fair grounds at Madison, Sherman Fisher, son of C. C. Fisher, of Center, picked up a pocket book containing $58 in cash, and some papers of value to the owner. Young Fisher brought the pocket book home and his father took means to ascertain the owner of the same, who proved to be William Trauer, of the firm of Trauer Bros., who are in the grocery business at Madison. To-day Mr. Trauer came to this city and was given his property, and did not fail to reward liberally the boy, but for whose honesty his property would probably have been gone forever.

RAILROAD WORK.

This morning a construction train started out for laying rails on the new Beloit road, and a large number of men, seventy or eighty, were sent out to do more grading. Engineer Fuller, who now draws the train, was the first Master Mechanic on the old Milwaukee and Prairie du Chien road.

THE WEATHER.

REPORTED BY PRENTICE & EVANSON, DRUGGISTS.
The thermometer at 6 o'clock last night stood at 80 degrees above; at 1 o'clock a. m. to-day at 56 degrees above; at 7 o'clock a. m. at 52 degrees above; and at 1 o'clock p. m. at 64 degrees above. Clear.

The indications to-day are, for the upper lake region, slightly cooler and partly cloudy weather, south to west winds, rising followed by falling barometer.

TOBACCO SALES.

Sales of seed leaf tobacco reported exclusively for the Janesville Gazette, by J. S. Gans' Son & Co., Tobacco Brokers, Nos. 84 and 86 Wall Street, New York, for the week ending, Sept. 20, 1880:

60 cases, crop of 1879, New England seconds, at 11 to 15 cents; and Wrappers, at 16 to 35 cents and Hovatsone at 22 to 24 cents.

60 cases, crop of 1879, Pennsylvania, assorted at 12 to 22 cents.

100 cases, crop of 1879, State, pt. 50 cases, crop of 1879, Ohio at 7 cents to 10 cents.

100 cases, crop of 1879, Sandrine, at 9 to 18 cents.

100 cases, crop of 1879, Wisconsin, at 7 to 12 cents.

Total, 270 cases.

THE MACK TRIAL.
Charles H. Dewey, the new witness in the Mack trial, gave some rather sensational evidence in the case, last Saturday. He testified that he had worked for the Macks several years, and during that time there were frequent quarrels between the husband and wife, and that Mrs. Mack had even used violence on her husband. He testified also to sundry familiarities with Mrs. Mack, and that she said he would be just the right age to marry her when Mack was got out of the way.
Frank Dickerson occupied the rest of the day, with his old story, the cross-examination being left till to-day. Dickerson has about the same bearing in the box as when here, and the description given of him in the Chicago Times will be recognized by those who saw him here.
"He was quite well dressed in a gray coat and vest and black pants, and his light hair was long and brushed up from his temples. He wore a ring on his left hand, which he seems fond of displaying, and in general had a self-satisfied air. He took his position on the stand and gave his testimony in a glib manner. He has a coarse face, thick lips, and in general a brutal appearance."

BURGERS AT WORK.

Saturday night burglars visited the home of Mrs. Logan, who occupies Deacon Whitcomb's house. They gained an entrance through a conservatory window which had been left unfastened, and spying Mrs. Logan's pocketbook upon a stand in the sitting room, took that, but the little dog raised a bark, and the fellows hurried away. They left behind them their pocket match safe, and after getting outside the house emptied the pocketbook of its contents, and left that. There was only a little change in the pocket book, so the raid was not very successful one. They can get their match safe by returning the change they took away, provided they will call during daylight.

ANOTHER ATTEMPT.

Between 8 and 4 o'clock Sunday morning burglars gained an entrance to the house of Street Commissioner Croft. Mrs. Croft was awakened by a noise and stepping into the sitting room came close enough to a strange visitor to ask him what he was doing there. He didn't stop to answer but hurried out through the rear part of the house.

THE ATLANTA TRIP.

Captain Smith has applied for the necessary permission for the Guards to leave the State in order to go to Atlanta. Various steps are being taken to secure the needed money for meeting a portion of the expenses, so that the whole burden will not fall upon the company. A letter from Captain Burke, of the Gale City Guards, at Atlanta, says as follows: "While October is our most pleasant month, yet it is desirable to provide against cool nights, if any such should occur, during the visit of your command to this city; and we would suggest that each man provide himself with a blanket, and bring it either as baggage or in his knapsack. We would suggest also, that, if it be convenient, each man be provided with ten or twenty rounds of blank cartridges. We hope, when making arrangements with the railroad, you will endeavor to reach Atlanta on the night of October 17, if possible. Your camp is being prepared, and you will be met on your arrival at the depot."

PERSONAL.

—Consul Frank Leland left this morning for his Canada office.

—A. Dwight, of Chicago, arrived Saturday night and will spend some time with his daughter, Mrs. H. A. Smith.

—Hon. E. W. Bemis, State Treasurer of Iowa, is in the city, the guest of his cousins, George W. and K. W. Bemis.

—Mrs. H. O. Wilson went to Chicago this morning with her son-in-law J. D. King. She will visit friends there for several days.

—Congressman Williams is expected to arrive home by Wednesday, and will probably address the citizens here on the following evening.

—Henry Murphy and Charlie Putterson are making ready some superlative character songs and sketches, which they are to make use of in some of the home entertainments this season. There's plenty of fun and music in those two.

CUPID'S CAPTIVES.

The following from the Monroe Star will be read with interest here, as the happy bridegroom has many acquaintances here, and the bride is also known in this city, she being a relative of the Metcalf family, and having visited them and other friends during this summer: "Tuesday afternoon of last week, at St. James Episcopal church, Milwaukee, one of those interesting ceremonies occurred in which Mr. Frank Chenoweth and Miss Julietta M. Erwin were the ones to be congratulated. Rev. W. H. Throop, Rector of St. James officiated at the ceremony which made them man and wife. Mr. J. S. Taylor and Miss Wallace, of Milwaukee, attended the happy couple at the altar as groomsmen and bridesmaids. The bride is the youngest daughter of Dr. J. L. Erwin, formerly of Janesville, now of Cincinnati, Ohio, and is highly spoken of by all who have had the pleasure of her acquaintance; she has made many friends during her visits to Monroe, by her modest, lady-like ways, and we gladly welcome her to our little city, and hope she may find much joy and little sorrow in her new relation.
The fortunate groom, the youngest son of B. Chenoweth, Esq., one of the most substantial and respected citizens of Monroe, enters the matrimonial harness with a good record to back him and a bright future to stimulate him to make the fight for fortune and its attendant comforts; and being of a peaceful turn of mind, and a well-calculated to assume the responsibilities of his new position in life."

She banged her hair in the latest style, And wore a dress of black, And a pair of light ten-buttoned kids, And a long brown seal skin sague; But spite of all her blood wasn't pure, She ought to try the Spring Blossom Cure.

SPENCER'S SURPRISE.

The Happy Way in which the Water Witch Engine Company Use Their Members

The members of Water Witch Engine Company No. 2 met at their rooms, Saturday evening, for the transaction of business. Among the matters of public interest was the acceptance of the resignations of J. C. Moore and M. D. Robinson, and the election of Frank Melows and L. McCue to fill the vacancies. At the close of the business meeting, as Foreman John C. Spencer arose to put the motion for adjournment, Chief Engineer Young stepped to the front and to the surprise of the Foreman, presented him in behalf of the company, an elegant gold badge, speaking as follows:

Mr. Spencer: As you have seen twenty-five years active service in the Water Witch Engine Company and have passed from the position of torch-boy, through all the offices in the gift of this company, serving with credit to yourself and honor to the company, sinking self at all times, and giving all your best energies to the company, might be victorious and prosperous, it is befitting at this time that we, your comrades, should show our appreciation of your services during the years we have been associated together, and it is a pleasant duty I have to perform to present to you this token of our friendship and esteem. Mr. Spencer, we trust it will speak to you in stronger language than anything I may say to you to-night, and that as the years roll around, it may bring back to your memory the many exciting scenes, wherein you have stood shoulder to shoulder with the boys of Water Witch No. 2, in giving battle to our common enemy, and may also remind you of the many pleasant social hours we have spent together. Mr. Spencer, you will please accept this badge, not for its intrinsic value, but for the good will and friendship, it carries with it.

Mr. Spencer was completely taken aback by the unexpected event, and was unable to say more than a hearty expression of thanks, and a protest, that nothing in his actions had merited any such kindness and honor.

The badge thus presented is an elegant one, being of solid gold, shield shaped, and richly chased, bearing upon its face the name of the company and a miniature, but perfect representation of a scow, while on the adverse side of the badge is engraved—

PRESENTED TO
J. C. SPENCER,
BY
WATER WITCH ENGINE CO. NO. 2,
SEP. 19, 1880.
25 YEARS ACTIVE SERVICE.
JANESVILLE, WIS.

Mr. Spencer has now the honor of having served more years consecutively, than any other member of the department. He was a torch-boy of Water Witch No. 2 in February 1855, and has grown up in the service. Next to him in length of service comes Chief Engineer Young, and in the Sack Company R. J. Richardson has had longest service, he being the only one now in the Sack Company, who was a member at the time of its organization in May, 1855.

Another pleasing incident of the gathering, Saturday evening, was the presentation of a silver cake basket, by the company through Mr. Spencer, to James Moore, who has lately become a Benedict. The company took this tangible way of expressing their well wishes, and congratulations to the newly wedded ones, and the tribute was received with due thankfulness.
